“A Trumpeter’s Dream™”

Enthralls the audience from the beginning breath to the very last breathtaking note. Avis and Ronald Romm met as students at The Juilliard School in New York City where they earned postgraduate degrees. Their combined experience over the last 30 years is something that staggers the imagination:

They have performed in thousands of concerts worldwide for well over 100 million people.

Ron is a former and founding member of the world famous Canadian Brass, and Avis’ expertise extends to Chamber Music, Opera, Orchestra, and Musical Theatre.

The Romms keep their audiences spellbound with their virtuosity. This unique duo’s ability to communicate from the stage goes far beyond the music itself. The synergy of the pairing of these two brilliant soloists dazzles their audience immediately. Avis and Ronald Romm are musicians that have spent their lives together for more than a generation, creating and sharing harmony in family, harmony in home, and harmony in the music they love and live.

The duo of Trumpet and Piano is an unusual chamber music medium. Avis and Ron together have arranged and composed much of the repertoire that they perform. The audience is always keenly aware of the intense beauty of their impeccable playing. The colors, shadings, and articulations are indeed unique; this is an ensemble that always graces the stage. One never feels assaulted or intimidated by their music, whether the dynamics are Pianissimo or Fortissimo. At the same time, their consummate abilities, their power, their precision in ensemble playing and their energy pull audiences to their feet for standing ovations everywhere the Romms appear.
